Different Sections.

At W. H. Johnson's in Bradford was grown this summer a squash that has been on display in one of the stores there this week which weighs 54½ pounds.

The Bussey open-air dance pavilion at Greenwood lake, Woodbury, was burned Monday night, the cause being unknown, although it is supposed that someone took refuge in the building for the night and the fire resulted. The pavilion was completely destroyed, with the piano and the little store downstairs.

Francis Merrifield, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Merrifield of West Guilford, broke his right arm just above the wrist, Sept. 22. His father had just returned from Brattleboro and two or three of the boys climbed on a bag of meal to ride. The end board of the wagon came unfastened and let the bag out. When the horse was started the boy's arm was caught in the wheel.

The Dimock farms in East Corinth are harvesting their potato crop, work having been begun digging them in the fields last week Wednesday. As a result of constant spraying, they are finding the potatoes free from rust, only two potatoes out of the first five thousand bushels dug showing any decay. Mr. Dimock says that they continued their spraying until the very day of the digging, over a carload of powder having been used and more ordered by express. The Dimock interests have eighty acres planted to Green Mountain seed potatoes. There are only a thousand acres planted to Green Mountain seed potatoes in the state of Vermont.

Homeopaths to Meet in Burlington.

National homeopathic clinic day, Oct. 3, will be observed in Burlington at Dr. Sam Sparhawk's sanatorium, where the physicians and surgeons of the state will meet.

Dr. George I. Forbes, who has been appointed by Dr. Braxton E. Kinn of Albany, N. Y., to serve as state chairman, has recently communicated with every homeopath in the state urging them to observe the day, in which 10,000 physicians and surgeons of America will join.

Logical.

Near Bridgeport, Ill., west of Vincennes, in an oil field where the Illinois pipe line empties a large pool of crude petroleum.

The other day a man was seen sitting fishing in that oil pool.

"What you doing?" yelled the amazed attendant.

"Fishing," was the laconic reply.

"Did you ever, you dumb-bell, hear of catching fish in oil?"

"Dumb-bell yourself! Never hear of sardines?"

And the man went right on fishing.

Following the Recipe.

Mrs. Brown took one bite of the cake and that was enough.

"Nora," she said, "did you follow the recipe when you were making this?"

"Yes, mum," replied Nora, "only I put in six eggs, instead of four, because two was bad and I wanted to even 'em up."—Boston Transcript.

The Question.

Passerby—What are you staring at, little boy?

Willie Willis—Pa just fell down that manhole.

"Why don't you holler for help?"

"I dunno whether it was an accident or whether he was duckin' somebody he owed."—Judge.

No Fun There.

"I understand your husband isn't going to contest your suit for divorce."

"No. That's the way he's always been. There never was any fun quarreling with him because he wouldn't talk back."—Detroit Free Press.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BLINDED.

Caused R. B. Abbott to Collide with George P. Galbraith.

R. B. Abbott of South Peacham has reported to the secretary of state that $300 damage was done to his car in a collision with a car with registration No. 14450, belonging to George P. Galbraith of Passumpsic on Sept. 23. The accident occurred about a mile south of Passumpsic. Mr. Abbott states he could not see the other car because of the bright lights.

William S. Hitt of Pawlet has reported that his automobile was undamaged in a mixup involving four cars which occurred between Wells and Granville, N. Y., last Sunday. He states that a man named Allen driving a Ford without a light on the rear became mixed up with two other cars after he passed. Norman J. Allen of Hartford, N. Y., has reported in regard to the same accident that Hitt's car struck his in passing and that while he was trying to regain the road after being struck he was involved in a collision with another car.

Agnes M. McKirryher of Rutland has reported that Charles Fox, seven years old, was pushed against the side of an automobile she was driving and knocked down, but not injured to any extent.

Cars driven by Walter L. Hale of Wilmington, Mass., and Earl H. Carley of Barre collided in Barre July 29, according to a report from Mr. Hale which has just reached the office. The Hale car belongs to Adah F. Hale.

Make the Hens Eat Mash.

As soon as hot weather sets in, egg production goes down and egg prices go up but that is all the more reason why it pays to manage the hens to secure production during the summer. A number of our folks find it best to feed the hens in the house until 10 o'clock or noon because this forces them to eat more mash and makes sure that the eggs will be laid in the nests. This makes it much easier to gather the eggs and makes it possible to manage the hens so they will eat one part of 3-5-3 mash while they are eating one part of the grain ration composed of fifteen parts of corn, five parts of oats and five parts of wheat. If the mash is kept in a self-feeder, no grain at all is fed in the morning, the grain feed being given only once a day and that just before the birds go to roost at night.—Farm Life.
